PROJECTS

Game for Social Change: I am currently working on a research project with a team at the University of Tampa to create a game that enacts social change. The main focus of the game is to educate its users on the United Nations (UN) Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), which the United States is the only state yet to ratify. This game is in the early stages of production and is being developed on Unity, with an estimated completion date set for July 2024. I am excited about the potential impact this project could have in raising awareness and promoting positive change in regard to children's rights globally
